

Quality of Place Awards 2020

We are currently accepting entries for this year's Quality of Place awards.

The Quality of Place Awards were held from 2010-2018 in Suffolk Coastal and have now been extended across the whole new East Suffolk Area. They aim to recognise and encourage an interest in the quality of the built environment within the District and promote awareness for the need for high standards in all forms of design.

2019 Landscape Winner: Sutton Hoo

2019 Joint Design Winner:
The Listening Station, Reydon

Award Categories: The four categories are:

- Design – new buildings, housing estates or extensions
- Building Conservation – projects involving buildings of historic interest undertaken with particular attention to the quality of conservation
- Landscape – nature or landscape projects which contribute to local distinctiveness and benefit the local environment, wildlife, or habitats
- Community – projects designed to benefit the community in which they are built

Eligibility: Any type of development can be nominated: agricultural, commercial, community, educational, ecclesiastical, industrial, leisure, and residential. It can be new construction, extension, conversion or refurbishment. The project must be within the East Suffolk District Council Area and have been completed in the past two years (five years for the landscape category).

Judging: After the closing date the nominations are assessed by an independent judging panel. The shortlisted properties will be visited by the judges
